The harvest is 40% manual and 60% mechanical and is followed by a traditional white wine vinification. The grapes are broken and pressed and the must is clarified. Native yeasts (using the pied de cuve method) are added to provided the best conditions for fermentation. 30% of the wine is aged in new barrels, the rest in vats. After 8 to 10 months the wine is blended.

FOR SERVING WITH :

The balance of Chardonnay and Pinot Blanc produces a superb wine which can be enjoyed with a dish of scallops, with asparagus, a meat pie, jambon persillé, a Roquefort feuilleté or with foie gras. Drink from 3 to 5 years of age, chilled rather than cold.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION :

This wine remains an exception, the Côte de Nuits being above all known for its red wines. There are very few white wine producers. In addition, the 30% Pinot Blanc content provides another source of originality, this variety being very little grown in Burgundy, even though authorised.
